

Do you enjoy photographing the nature around you?

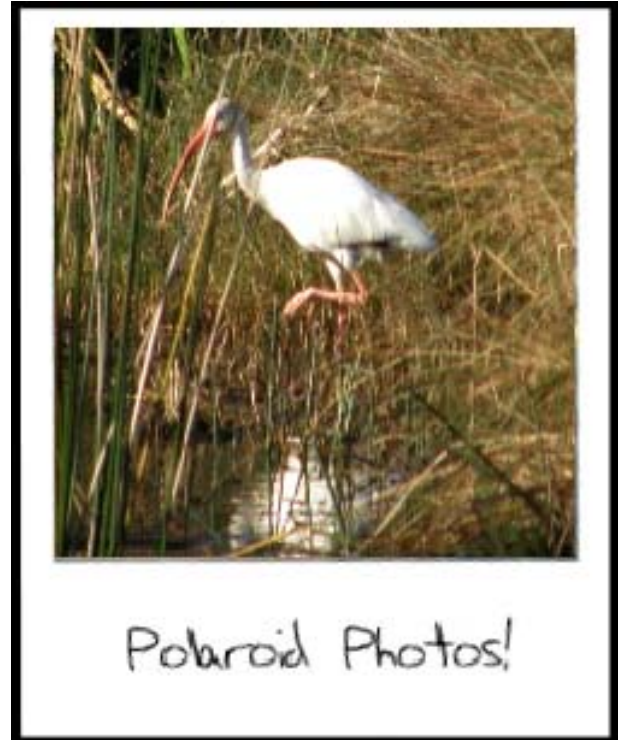

Have you ever wanted to see those pictures in print or online?

Did you ever think that your photos could help the environment?

2009

NIRPC Environmental Photo Contest

The Northwest Indiana Regional Planning Commission (NIRPC) is looking for your photos of environmental action in the communities. Do you know a neighbor who has planted a rain garden, or have you hosted a river cleanup? Send us your pictures and you could win a professional framed photo and an environmentally friendly prize package. All contest submissions will be considered for future NIRPC publications, websites, and newsletters and they will be made available to NIRPC partners for their outreach needs. To enter photos into the contest e-mail your digital copies of the photo to aperegrine@nirpc.org

NIRPC is currently accepting photographs in the following categories until February 30, 2009

Conservation in Action

Faces of conservations

On the farm

Remember, it all adds up to clean air and water!

Water uses and

For more information visit: <http://www.nirpc.org>